

INTERVIEW ETTIQUETTES AND COMMUNICATION

SESSION - 1

IMBA BEACON

LET US START WITH AN ICE - BREAKER

What do you need for the success of

An Instagram Reel?

HOOK!

HOOK!

is the first 20 to 30 seconds of your introduction. Its sole purpose is to grab the panel's drifting attention, break their monotony, and force them to look up from their laptops or evaluation sheets to focus entirely on you.

Hello, I'm Palash

IMBA STUDENT at IIT MANDI

BUT IS THAT THE ONLY THING THAT DEFINES ME?

IF YOU EVER CATCH ME IN MY FREE TIME, YOU'LL FIND ME PLAYING AROUND WITH WORDS, WHICH MAKES ME A POET. I LOVE THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND HAVE BEEN DOING AS MUCH AS I CAN TO PUT THAT LOVE TO GOOD USE. OTHER THAN THAT, MY INTERESTS LIE IN COOKING, SEWING, AND ANYTHING THAT CHALLENGES ME FRANTICALLY IN SOME WAY.

A decorative line starts from the top left, curves down, and then curves back up towards the right. In the top right corner, there is a stylized leaf motif with several leaves on a branch.

NOW LET'S TALK ABOUT YOU!

Tell us one thing about you that you think makes you unique

TELL US

What do you think makes you remember some of your introductions?

That's exactly what we will work on!

So buckle up

The Panel Evaluation Triad

WHAT DOES THE INTERVIEWER WANT TO KNOW?

- Your Background (relevant to the IMBA Program)
- What stands you out? Why should they choose you?
- Is your attitude and personality actually worthy of being given this seat?
- What is important to you?

HOW TO CREATE A HOOK?

Identify your local context:

Define the unique soul of your surroundings (Industrial, Tech-hub, Cultural-Capital).

Delhi: The fast-paced, culturally diverse capital.

Kerala: The highly literate, green, and tourist-driven landscape.

Bangalore: The high-energy, tech and startup hub of India.

A small town: A close-knit, resourceful community where businesses are built on trust.

HOW TO CREATE A HOOK?

Build a bridge

Connect your environment to your mindset. How did growing up there shape your vision?

HOW TO CREATE A HOOK?

Traits

Connect your environment to your mindset. How did growing up there shape your vision?

Conclude the hook by introducing two professional, business-relevant adjectives that describe their mindset.

- Good choices: Analytical, resourceful, observant, adaptable, collaborative, execution-focused.
- Avoid: Kind, honest, hardworking, helpful (these are too generic).

WHAT DOES THE INTERVIEWER WANT TO KNOW?

- Your Background (relevant to the IMBA Program)
- What stands you out? Why should they choose you?
- How to meet these expectations?
- Is your attitude and personality actually worthy of being given this seat?
- What is important to you?

YOU SHOULD ANSWER THESE THREE QUESTIONS

Who you are?

What you've done?

Why you're here?

PART 1

- Define with Impact: Use strong, professional adjectives that match your true strengths. (Give examples too!)
- Anchor the Basics: State your name, your school/city, and your core academic focus.

Example: Hello, I am Shradhha, born and raised in the industrial heart of Jharkhand - Jamshedpur, and that has naturally made me someone who is deeply inquisitive and analytical about how large systems and businesses run. I did my schooling at Saint Xavier's and scored 95% in my Class 12th boards. During my school life, I have developed interests in public speaking and storytelling

PART 1

- Define with Impact: Use strong, professional adjectives that match your true strengths. (Give examples too!)
- Anchor the Basics: State your year of study, your location/city, and your core academic focus.

*Pro tip:
Make eye contact with everyone on the panel*

Example: Hello, I am Shraddha, a student from the industrial heart of Jharkhand - Jamshedpur, and that has naturally made me someone who is deeply inquisitive and analytical about how large systems and businesses run. I did my schooling at Saint Xavier's and scored 95% in my Class 12th boards. During my school life, I have developed interests in public speaking and storytelling

PART 2

Don't just list your hobbies, show the highest level of execution or recognition you achieved in them using facts, not bragging.

The idea is not to tell them what you've done but extend that to its relevance and impact. It's not about achievement but what came out of it.

- Example: This led to one of my favorite milestones when I represented my school at a regional youth conclave, where my team was awarded the 'Best Presentation' award out of 15 competing schools. Additionally, I used my storytelling background to spearhead a script-writing initiative for our school's annual day theater production, coordinating with a cast of 30 students to bring the narrative to life.

PART 2

Don't just list your hobbies, show the highest level of execution or recognition you achieved in them using facts, not bragging.

Pro tip:

Present it in a way that shows you've contributed, not won (don't show arrogance, no superlatives)

- Example: This led to my school at a regional level, represented my school at a regional level, and I was awarded the 'Best Presentation' award. Additionally, I used my storytelling background to spearhead a script-writing initiative for our school's annual day theater production, coordinating with a cast of 30 students to bring the narrative to life.

PART 3

Connect your past to IMBA's future - Never just say you are "passionate." Show that this IMBA program is the exact, logical next step for your practical skills.

Example: These experiences made me realize that the core of great management is articulating the ability to align a team, pitch an idea, and lead through clear communication. My natural inclination has always been toward leadership and management, and I aim to leverage these communication skills to spearhead case-study presentations and drive student committees.

PART 3

Connect your past to IMBA's future - Never just say you are "passionate." Show that this IMBA program is the exact, logical next step for your practical skills.

Example: These experiences have honed my communication skills, and I aim to leverage these communication skills to spearhead case-study presentations and drive student committees.

*Pro tip:
Try to state an interest of yours that is relevant to the program
(like AI)*

Great management through clear communication. My natural leadership and management, and I aim to leverage these communication skills to spearhead case-study presentations and drive student committees.

Don'ts

- Don't treat your intro like a boring history lesson you're just reading out
- Don't throw out empty adjectives like "I am very hardworking and honest."
- Don't list generic hobbies like "listening to music" unless you create them.
- Don't beg for the seat by saying, "I am highly passionate about this degree and want to be in IMBA." Rather prove it
- Don't mention anything that you are not confident about talking.

Do's

- Do make eye contact with everyone on the panel
- Do back up every single trait with a quick anecdotes.
- Do greet the panel members before starting your introduction.
- Do highlight high-impact skills like public speaking, storytelling, or logic.
- Do implicitly show you belong by anchoring your strengths to their campus activities

